Passage No.1: Alternative Energy Source

Our life depends heavily on electricity. In recent years, many researchers have been discussing the importance of finding an alternative energy source. Now, people use various forms of natural energy such as wind, solar, heat, and waves to sustain our lives. These alternative energy sources are also eco-friendly. By choosing natural and clean energy sources, we can save the earth for the next generation.

Passage No.2: 21st-Century Skills

In the field of education, policy makers, researchers, and teachers are actively engaged in promoting 21st-century skills. They are a set of abilities that one must obtain to be successful in the 21st-century. In learning, there are four main skills that students should acquire to be successful. They are critical thinking, creativity, collaboration, and communication. If you don't master these learning skills, you may face difficulties in a world full of information and connections.

Passage No.1: Going to School in English

English has become the international language for business and academic communications. With this in mind, many parents in Japan want to help their children acquire a proficiency in English communication. Some of them send their children to all-English schools. In these schools, children learn not only English but also all their subjects in English. You can imagine how difficult it can be, but the rewards are great also.

Question.....

According to the passage, why can going to school in English be difficult?

Question.....

According to the passage, why do many parents want to send their children to school in English?

Passage No.2: Natural Remedies

These days, many people are interested in replacing chemical medicines with more natural treatments. People choose natural remedies because they think they are much safer than prescribed or mass-produced chemical medicines. Besides, they believe natural medicines can prevent sicknesses by strengthening the biological system to fight against viruses. Historically, natural medicines have been used for many centuries, and many people feel they are beneficial for our lives now.

Question.....

According to the passage, what are the two benefits of using natural remedies?

Passage No.3: “Ikumen” Culture

“Ikumen” is a Japanese term for fathers who are actively involved in child-raising. This particular term indicates a change in Japanese culture and family. In a traditional Japanese household, the father went to work and the mother stayed at home and was a housewife. However, this has gradually changed, and now, many mothers work as much as their spouses. This has caused a more equal sharing of responsibilities in the home. As a result, more men are required to be involved in child-rearing.

Question.....

According to the passage, why do men need to be more involved in taking care of their children?

Passage: University Classes Taught in English

These days more and more universities in Japan offer classes in English. This new movement is supported by the idea of English being the official language of the world, and in order to compete at the global level, Japanese students must be able to speak and use English in their specialized areas. This benefits some students, but it can be extremely challenging for others. Some students even fail the class because they cannot understand the content delivered in English.

Your story should begin with this sentence:

One day, Ren and Airi are talking in a cafeteria about their new science course taught in English.

Passage: School on Saturday?

These days, the Japanese Ministry of Education has been discussing the possibility of having school on Saturdays. Some say that this is necessary to increase the level of student achievement, particularly in Japanese and Math. Others say that this is helpful for the parents who have to work on Saturdays. If this goes into effect, the life of students and teachers in Japan will dramatically transform.

Your story should begin with this sentence:

One day, Daisuke and his father were talking about going fishing on Saturday that week.
